

1. Executive Summary

- Validated a real XRPL use case in enterprise and community settings, not just a prototype.
- Built from the XRPL Commons Community Ideas repository: a Proof-of-Attendance / Event Attendance NFT framework.
- Shipped as poap.live: soulbound attendance badges, live on XRPL mainnet.
- Coordinated three real events across sports, education and technology audiences.
- Result: 805 badges verified on the XRPL ledger against 842 registrations (96%).

2. Motivation

- Enterprise Users need custodial wallets.
- WAVES to act as a learning exercise for XRPL Enterprise Adoption.

4. Revenue Model

5. User Life Cycle

Prospective Engagements

10+ events planned, with $150,000 in soft commitments for Q4 2026

1 University Collaboration

Tie-ups with multiple universities in progress.

Thousands of custodial wallets for staff and students.

2 Enterprise CSR

Phase 1: existing clients.

3 Events

Medium-tier conference organizers are currently showing interest.

Participants can earn and redeem points for non-associative events.

Commitment Beyond the Hackathon

If selected as a winner, Team Mikky will continue in three directions:

1 Promote Grassroots Initiatives

Make the technology accessible to smaller community organizations, educational groups, social-impact initiatives and local events.

2 Develop Critical XRPL Ecosystem Functionality

With 10+ years of blockchain experience, Feooh will use the winnings to bring its existing enterprise SDK to the XRPL ecosystem.

3 Expand in Physical AI

Make XRPL the de facto standard for Physical AI initiatives looking for blockchain integration.

poap.live in Action

Live on XRPL mainnet. The demo video shows an attendee's badge and the rewards collected with it, side by side with the vendor flow.
